A WORTHY CANDIDATE.

The loyal voters of the Commonwealth ask no higher tribute to the worth and character of Judge Williams than the following neat compliment paid him by the only daily Democratic paper of Western Pennsylvania the day following his nomination. It said:

"The nomination of the Hon. Henry W. Williams as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court is a good one. He was the best man named before the Republican Convention, and possesses legal and moral qualifications for the responsible position to which he has been nominated. Both parties have now presented their candidates. An important duty has been faithfully discharged by the respective conventions. The campaign may now be conducted without personal asperions, and decided upon the principles of the two great parties. This is as it should be. It is an auspicious sign of the times, and if the county conventions are equally fortunate in the selection of legislative candidates, there will be a stop put to the deplorable corruption at the seat of government under a new reign of honest men and conscientious legislators.—Pittsburgh Post, June 28th, 1867.

The Post, in referring to the above, on the 29th of August, was pleased to say:

"We have nothing to take back or modify. Of Judge Williams' private or legal reputation we have nothing but words of praise, and however it may suit some pugnacious and heady politicians, we cannot bring ourselves to view personal assaults as either wise or politic."

THE PRESIDENTIAL CANVASS will commence as soon as the pending elections shall be closed. Indeed, the October and November elections of the current year, can properly be regarded in no other light than as skirmishes preliminary to the great contest of 1868. In this view it is manifest that every vote for Mr. Williams will add strength and certainty to the operations of the Republican party during next summer and fall. Every vote given against him will help, by so much, to weaken the prospect of electing a genuine Republican as the successor of Mr. Johnson, or, at least, contribute to render such election more laborious. Republicans ought to beware how, for temporary or contingent objects they put the main end in jeopardy.

MANY REPUBLICANS meet us with this truism, "If we get out a full vote, the election of Mr. WILLIAMS is sure." The only way ever discovered for getting out a full vote is to work to that end, intelligently, industriously, persistently. Each district has its own peculiar work to do in this particular, and if it all shall be left for one or two men to perform, it may not all be done well, if at all. Every Republican, therefore, should take hold of the work himself in earnest. In this way a full vote will certainly be obtained, and the election of Mr. WILLIAMS be accomplished by a majority full as large, if not larger, than that given for Gen. GEARY last year.

IN 1863, when the rebels invaded Pennsylvania, the Democrats were assembled in State Convention at Harrisburg. Not a word did that body utter in condemnation of the rebellion, or of the principles out of which it grew. That silence was more expressive than speech. It said plainly enough that the principles underlying the rebellion were Democratic principles, and consequently, that the success of the rebellion would be a Democratic triumph. The relations of the Democratic party to the rebellion have not changed since then, but, if possible, have been intensified.

THE REBEL ORGANS throughout the Southern States, do not attempt to disguise the fact that the result of the coming election in Pennsylvania will practically decide the whole matter of reconstruction. If the Republicans shall succeed, and by a handsome majority, then "the lost cause," which, through the invocation of the President, has recently "revisited the glimpses of the moon," will be again lost, and never more reappear. Republicans! let us poll a majority that shall be final and conclusive.

THE OMENS are favorable. From every quarter of the State come good tidings. In all the counties the Republicans are again moving with that resolution which makes victory certain. All that now remains is to get out the laggards. This MUST be done, or the garland we win will wither in our grasp. Use, therefore, every spare moment in efforts to bring to the polls every doubting, wavering or indifferent Republican. Secure a full vote, and then the victory will be complete and abiding.

LET EVERY HOLDER of Government bonds or notes consider well the possible consequences of the vote he may give on Tuesday next. You may so vote as to shake the national credit and impair the value of your property. Surely, the party that so managed to maintain its financial reputation, and this in the face of the most formidable obstacles ever encountered by any government, is entitled to challenge confidence in this period of lessened difficulties.

ORGANIZE, WORK, THINK, SPEAK! Bring out every Republican voter, that that the nation may be saved from the consequences of the treachery of the President. Be faithful to the principles for which so much has been endured; to the martyred dead who sleep on the battle fields of the Union, and in quiet grave yards all over Pennsylvania and thus shall be won another grand victory for social order, national stability, and the political elevation of the human race.

SO FAR as the Republicans shall fail to poll their full vote, will they endanger the grand result. Hence, the duty of every Republican, this week, is not only to so order his affairs as to be at the polls himself, on next Tuesday, but to see that every Republican in his immediate neighborhood makes the same preparation. The Republican record is now honorable and patriotic. Let it not be diminished, at this late day, by supineness and lack of vigilance.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND UNION SOLDIERS were starved in Andersonville and other rebel prison pens; the democrats of the North denying or else excusing the atrocity. Now, these same democrats are putting on masks of patriotism to secure the votes of Union soldiers who were so fortunate as not to be starved to death. So flagrant an imposture cannot succeed.

MR. HENRY C. CAREY's great work on "Social Science," which was translated into German some time ago, and made a text-book in one or two of the Universities, has been rendered into Hungarian and Russian. These are high honors, such as have seldom been accorded to an American writer.

OFFICIAL reports show that less than half as many negroes as Southern whites have been relieved by the Freedmen's Bureau.

HOPE FOR THE SOUTH.

Those who have looked at the Southern people standing hat in hand asking for alms—at ex-Congressmen and ex-Jonnies sending their wives and daughters to Uncle Sam's Commissary for bits of salt pork and quarts of beans, while they lay back on their dignity, boasted of their chivalry, smoked their cigars and refused to sell or rent any portion of their thousands of acres, must have looked upon them as past hope, past redemption and below contempt. But the following from the Vicksburg (Miss.) Times reveals the fact that the folks in that region are not all "Southern gentlemen." They must have some men who are represented by this manly and sensible protest:

"As cool weather, the season for going to work, is rapidly approaching, we sincerely hope that the ridiculous tournament folly, which has been raging in the form of an epidemic in Mississippi, is drawing to a close. The absurdity of the whole thing has been so patent, that we had hoped that grown up men would have long since have become ashamed of this childish and ridiculous display of what is called chivalry. The idea that anybody but silly boys and ignorant young misses could derive pleasure from seeing men assume the garb of harlequin, mount a donkey whose ears are only shorter and less assinine than their own, gallop wildly around, frantically endeavoring to poke a stick through a ring, is one of the absurdities of the hour, which, we fervently trust, will disappear forever upon the advent of the first frost. In the name of decency and dignity, let us have no more of this insane folly. The close of a terrible war; when homes are desolated and mourners are at every heartstone is not, we venture to submit, exactly the time for a display of this bogus, bastard chivalry. Let children and little girls engage in this silly tomfoolery if they will, but in heaven's name let us hear no more of it from grown men. Let grave judges and learned counsellors, if they have nothing better to do, subside into a silence as eternal as the grave. Better that they should be heard no more forever, than indulge in a deluge of tiresome twaddle about chivalry and knights, romance, love, war, feudal ages, and a whole sea of drivel, born of ignorance, folly and stupidity. The hour and its necessities demand men—men of brains, action, energy and courage; men who can bare their arms to labor—men with brains to think, hearts to feel, hands to work, and minds to comprehend, and be equal to the great exigencies of the age. Such men as these, we humbly suggest, will not be found in the ranks of these "carpet knights" of the tournament, or among those who have nothing better to do than deal in sounding periods about chivalry. The noblest chivalry of the South, after having passed through the fiery ordeal of war, displays itself in its most active garb when it addresses itself deliberately to labor—to the restoration of ruined fortunes, to the rebuilding of wasted homes and the reparation of blighted prospects."

In conclusion, the Times quotes the following from a Jackson (Miss.) correspondent:

"Abolish tournaments and kindred follies, and establish in their stead agricultural societies in each county in the State, offering premiums for the largest amount of corn, wheat, potatoes and cotton raised on a given amount of land; the finest specimens of the horse, cow, mule, hog, sheep; also, for the most perfect productions of manufactural and mechanical skill, and my word for it, there will be no longer necessity of sending agents North to beg meat and bread for the starving poor of the South."

Could anything be more timely, more appropriate? A mendicant chivalry belongs to the days of RICHARD the First and ROBIN HOOD. If the editor of the Times can get the people of his State to adopt the habits of the present century, Mississippi is reconstructed, on a basis which will require no reconstruction.

GRASSHOPPERS.

"The grasshoppers and dog-fennel are about taking Iowa, and would probably succeed but for the fact that the former are "death" on the latter, and gobble it up "root and branch" as fast as they can get to it. Having rollicked around over Western and Southern Iowa until they have grown tired of the scenery and needing a change of pasture, they are coming "thisward," and the advance guard of the chattering hosts are only twelve miles from our city gates. With fair winds they will probably reach here soon, when they will be able to tell their own story. It is said that the Digger Indians turn them into good account by eating them, and consider them quite a recherche dish; and in doing so they offend nothing but our probably superdelicate notions about what "wittles" shall go into our fastidious stomachs. Those of you who are as fortunate and properly pious as we are, and therefore keep a Bible constantly on your writing desk, can, by turning to the book of Leviticus, read in the eleventh chapter the two following verses, which, as you see, gives you full permission to have grasshoppers for breakfast:

"21. Yet these may ye eat of every flying or creeping thing which goeth upon all four, which have legs above their feet to leap withal upon the earth.

"22. Even these of them may ye eat: the locust after his kind, and the bald locust after his kind, and the grasshopper after his kind."

"Therefore, if you want to get rid of the grasshoppers, you can do it in one way—eat 'em up."—Desmoines (Iowa) Register, Sept. 16.

A better way is to confront them with armies of chickens and turkeys, which will convert them into first class eggs and poultry. Preliminary to our eating "'em up," we prefer they should pass through the laboratory of a turkey's gizzard. Fowl will eat nothing else while they can get grasshoppers. These deposit their eggs where they rest in August or September, and the young brood of the next spring may be largely diminished and turned to profitable account by meeting them with plenty of chickens and turkeys.

THE LOUISVILLE Courier says that the commerce of the West will ultimately centralize, building up one city into a conspicuity vastly superior in wealth and population to all others. It reviews the respective pretensions of St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Louisville. Of this city it says:

"Pittsburgh is superior to Cincinnati in the number of her manufactures and in all kinds of mechanical pursuits. In the articles of coal, iron and glass, she is inferior to no city in the Union. She is situated in the richest mineral portion of the Keystone State, and is connected by an admirable system of railroads with all the largest cities on the continent. Yet she offers but very little encouragement for anything outside of manufactures. She is enveloped in a cloud of smoke arising from her thousand furnaces and machine shops, giving everything around and about her a dingy and dirty appearance. In her somber streets and thoroughfares there is no attraction for the artist, the poet, or the pleasure seeker. Life is deprived of half its joys, for the blue sky never gladdens the hearts of her inhabitants. She is justly called the Birmingham of America, and like her renowned namesake, can never become a great commercial center."

Having disposed of Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis in as easy a manner it predicts that the supremacy must fall to the lot of Louisville. Hitherto Chicago has enjoyed a monopoly of what is vulgarly called "blowing;" but she must look out, or Louisville will beat her with her own weapons.

EVERY BALLOT deposited for Mr. Sharswood as truly serves the lingering purposes of the rebellion as any musket that appeared in the rebel ranks at Gettysburg. Nay, it often happens, and may chance at the coming election, that a ballot is more potent than a bullet.

FROM THE PACIFIC.

Central Pacific Railroad Company Preparing for Winter—Oregon and California Stage Company—Treasure from Oregon—Advices from Alaska—The Exploring Expedition—Something About the Country, &c. &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—The Central Pacific Railroad Company are preparing for the winter by roofing in the most exposed portions of the track through the snow belt, such as deep cuts. Large quantities of freight are now crossing the mountains.

The reported wreck of the brig Commodore, on Alcatraz Island, is incorrect.

An Oregon and California Stage Company has been organized with a capital of one hundred and seventy thousand dollars, to transport the mails and passengers from Sacramento to Portland, a distance of seven hundred miles.

The steamer California, from Victoria, brings thirty-nine thousand dollars in gold, and the Sierra Nevada, from Portland, one hundred and forty thousand dollars.

Sailed: Pacific Mail steamer Golden Age, for Panama, with two hundred and thirty-six passengers, and $755,255 in treasure, $595,000 of which is for New York. New arrivals are taken up readily for return freights. Considerable iron is now arriving for various California Railroads.

An adjourned meeting of merchants this evening appointed a Committee to procure subscriptions for stock in a company to place a regular line of steamers on the Colorado river. The enterprise will doubtless go ahead.

The Sierra Nevada brings advices from Alaska, via Victoria, to August 20th. The United States exploring and surveying expedition which arrived on the Lincoln, would soon start from Sitka for Oonalaska. They were detained by rain, fog and wind. There was considerable business activity at New Archangel. Lots have advanced several hundred dollars and there was some jumping. Some coin is in circulation, but leather money predominates. The Copper River country is reported by Indians and Russians to be rich in gold, copper and coal, but the savages were very hostile and warlike. The weather at New Archangel was much praised. All kinds of common vegetables were raised, and many berries; salmon and other fish were very plenty; deer sell at eighty cents each.

Russian firms and Germans were glad to be annexed.

The Victoria Colonist says a United States navy yard has been selected on Cambridge Island, near Port Townsend, W. T. The principal fortifications will be built at Point Weston, at the head of Fuca Straits. Ship builders on Puget Sound are preparing for extensive orders in the Spring.

Idaho reports mention favorable mining yields, and there continued to be trouble with the Indians.

There was great excitement at Victoria over a supposed volcanic eruption sixty-five miles distant in the Cascade range.

The Colonist rejoices in the prospect of the union of British Columbia with the Canadian dominion.

Agricultural and mining reports from Oregon are highly favorable.

The third heat was won by Plantaganet, Walker second, Barnes third, Woodstock fourth, Conflict fifth, Hunter sixth, Viola seventh. Time 1:50¾. The track was heavy and slow.

General Palmer, Treasurer of the Kansas and Pacific Railroad, and Capt. Colton, arrived at Santa Fe on the 16th ult., and were received by the territorial authorities. The surveying parties were examining three routes from Fort Union to the Rio Grande, at Albuquerque and Fort Craig. The country is favorable for the construction of a railroad. Gen. Palmer found extensive deposits of anthracite coal, large beds of iron ore, and abundance of timber for cross ties near the proposed line of the road.

The funeral of General Sterling Price to-day was one of the largest ever seen here. The ceremonies took place in the First Methodist Church, Dr. Boyle, where the remains lay in state all morning, and were visited by a very large number of citizens.

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY.

—Gen. Sterling Price died at St. Louis, on Sunday morning, of a disease contracted during the Mexican war.

—A committee of the St. Louis Merchants Exchange, a few days since, collected seven thousand dollars for the Howard Association of New Orleans.

—The number of deaths in New York for the week ending Saturday was four hundred and thirty-seven, being one hundred and thirty-one less than during the previous week, and a decrease of fifty as compared with the figures of the corresponding week of last year.

—The Liberal papers of France publish the following confidential circular, issued by Marshal Bazaine while in Mexico:

"I request you to make known to the troops under your command that I do not allow prisoners to be made. Every person, no matter whom, taken with arms in his hands, will be put to death. No exchange of prisoners will be made for the future. Our soldiers must be made thoroughly aware that they ought not to surrender their arms to such adversaries. This is a 'war to the death,' 'une lutte a outrance,' between barbarism and civilization, which is now entered upon. On both sides, to be killed has become necessary.

BAZAINE,
Marshal Commanding in Chief."

—A special says the Secretary of the Navy has caused to be prepared a legal opinion showing that in the recent conflict of jurisdiction in Pennsylvania between the State Court and the Naval authorities, the local Court has no authority to compel a return to the writ of habeas corpus issued on behalf of a person who is in the naval service. The Supreme Court in several cases have decided that the State Courts have no jurisdiction in habeas corpus over any in the military and naval service.

—General Ord has forwarded an order to army headquarters, from which it appears that he has directed the discharge from the Quartermaster's Department in his district of all civilian clerks whose services can possibly be dispensed with, or whose places can be supplied by enlisted men without detriment to the service. Hereafter no civilians will be employed except in cases of absolute necessity.

Letter from Philadelphia.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28, 1867.

During the last week Philadelphia has been thronged with Pittsburghers; it has been almost impossible to walk a few squares without being hallooed at by some fellow townsman, and after the hallooing follows the hand shaking, cordial, because cordiality is an attribute of the dwellers in the fogs of the Iron City at all times, particularly when away from home. And not only Pittsburghers, but strangers from all parts of the country, seem to be thronging here. The other day when I happened into the parlors of the Continental, I found them lined with cots, a sort of bivouac extemporized often during great conventions, but extraordinary now, when the attractions are only the usual ones; for business is very dull. I hear complaints on all sides; from the sellers on account of lack of customers, and from the buyers, of the tight state of the money market all over the country; in fact all places seem to have suffered as much, from some cause or other, as Pittsburgh did from the "great lock out" of its iron men.

Nor do politics attract as much attention here as the great issues at stake would warrant one in expecting. There have been no parades, no ward politician rows, and but one mass meeting; to be sure some of the papers are beginning to drop the more dignified course, assumed at the beginning of the campaign, and to betake themselves to the task of hunting up compromising, and sometimes scandalous incidents and anecdotes of the private or public life of the various candidates, but the general public is too used to this sort of thing to feel very violently excited, and the contrast with this time last year is a very striking one.

The upper ten thousand have nearly all returned, and the houses of the West End have shaken off the dead look of a month ago, and with brightened brass, and snowy steps and shutters add much to the pleasures of the promenades on Walnut or Spruce streets. Chestnut street, too, at the proper hour, is very pleasant to look upon, and the throng of fair faces and daintily poised chignons, short dresses, long sweeping trains, bell-crowned hats and tight trowsers, is as dense, thanks to the narrow trotteries, as ever graced Broadway. In consequence of this return of the "world" the theatres are all open again and doing a brisk business, but tinsel and button paper have triumphed, and the two finest theatres in the city, the Walnut and the Academy of Music, are crowded nightly by admirers of the Midsummer Night's Dream and the famous Black Crook.

But there is a good time coming, and we hear that next week Murdoch will begin a short engagement, and Booth, whom you are no doubt enjoying now, and Forrest, and Jefferson, the unapproachable, are all announced as being in the immediate future of theatre goers here.

The weather, which has been almost unbearable for several days, has, thanks to some heavy winds, become charming, although we are daily anticipating the equinoctial storms, after which I suppose we must consider the summer as past. W.

IN a recent speech, in Philadelphia, General Sickles, standing on the one leg left him by rebellion, said:

"Comrades! let us not forget our brave companions who fell in the war for the Union. Their shroudless forms lie buried in many a forest and field, like autumn leaves. Their nameless graves are numbered only by the recording angel. Let us sometimes listen to their sad voices, mournful as muffled drums, and heard even through the yielding sod. They say to us now: 'Brothers—you who are spared—leave not undone the work we did not live to help you do!'"

—The Davenport (Iowa) Gazette announces that the Rockford, Rock Island, Warsaw and St. Louis Railroad Company have entered into a contract with responsible persons for the construction of that road through its entire length. The road will be built and operated in sections, beginning at Sterling, possibly at Rockford also, and working toward Rock Island; then at Warsaw, thence north.

SHERIDAN.

RECEPTION IN NEW YORK.

Welcomed as an Officer Renowned for His Prowess in the Field and Civil Services

REPLY OF THE GENERAL.

He Will Never Make Rebellion Honorable.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 30, 1867.

The reception of General Sheridan by the Union League to-night was a fine affair. The Club building was illuminated and was early filled by members and guests. At a little past eight, General Sheridan and Staff arrived, and were escorted by the officers of the Club to the parlors, where President Jay welcomed him on behalf of the members as an officer of the Republic, renowned for his prowess in the field and his fidelity to the country in the civil services which it had been his duty to perform. The speech was frequently interrupted with applause.

General Sheridan responded by saying: "I have scarcely language to express the very great appreciation I have for your very warm and hearty welcome. I only hope that I may be able hereafter to deserve the same approval in all my acts. I certainly know that, before, and I believe hereafter, I shall never by any act of mine attempt to make rebellion honorable. [Loud applause.] Rebellion is a crime and shall not be made honorable. [Cheers.] I thank you."

After Sheridan concluded, three cheers were given for him, and the members of the club were introduced by Colonel Howe and other members of the Reception Committee.

A collation was served, during which the band played patriotic airs from the balcony. The square was filled with thousands of people, alternately cheering and shouting for the General.

The military procession formed at nine o'clock, and comprised five divisions, including three regiments of militia and large numbers of veterans, the last division being composed of veteran colored soldiers. All were accompanied by bands, and commanded by veteran officers.

After marching through several streets the procession reached Union Square, in front of the Club House, where they halted and formed in hollow square, with bands in the center.

General Sheridan's appearance on the balcony was the signal for an outburst of the wildest enthusiasm. He was introduced to the assemblage by John Jay.

Gen. Sheridan said: "I desire to thank you for the reception you have given me to-night. I am always delighted to see men with whom I have endured the danger of the war. I recollect with what alacrity the volunteers turned out when danger menaced the country, and also the earnestness with which the men of this league sustained the Union in the field. We should never forget them. Whilst personally I feel honored by this demonstration, I do not forget that the men in the ranks were the true heroes of the war."

The speech was frequently interrupted by applause and closed with tremendous cheers and playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the band, the audience joining in with voices. The General retired from the balcony amidst the most deafening huzzas.

The bands united in a monster serenade, performing many patriotic tunes. The immense assemblage dispersed quietly at about one o'clock this morning.

The General will have a reception at Brooklyn to-morrow.

SAVANNAH, GA.

Disturbance With Negroes—Military and Police Join in Suppressing the Melee—Negroes Disarmed—Further Trouble Threatened.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAVANNAH, GA., September 30.—A man named Bradley, a Boston mulatto, who has been several times arrested by the military and civil authorities, for swindling negroes and exciting them to disturbance, had a gathering here of about a thousand negroes mostly from the country, to-day. In the course of his harangues against the white men, and in favor of a distribution of lands to conservative negroes, he was interrupted and a melee occurred. A large force of police charged through the crowd. The military came to their aid, and together they cleared the square. The muskets brought in by a large band of country negroes were taken by the police and turned over to the military. A large proportion of the colored population disapproved of Bradley, and threatened to assassinate him.

The entente cordiale between the city government and military affords great satisfaction to all classes, except adherents of Bradley.

LATEST.—The city is quiet. Disturbances are threatened between the country conservatives and city colored people to-night, but General Anderson, Chief of Police, has given orders to arrest every disorderly person, regardless of color or politics. The military will remain under arms, but their services will probably not be needed. A large number of arrests of rioters, and several ringleaders, have been made, and they will probably be sent to Fort Pulaski by the military.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, September 30.—The registration lists, for final revision, are open by order until October 8th.

Republican ward meetings are called for to-night, but are repudiated by Hunnicut, the acknowledged leader of the blacks.

Col. J. A. Bates, who has returned from Europe, has been ordered to relieve Major Stone, Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau at Petersburg.

Franklin Stearnes, Conservative Republican, was nominated for a member of the Convention by a Republican meeting in Henrico county.

The Republican ward meetings for organization held to-night, passed off harmoniously in two wards. In the lower ward a noisy assemblage adjourned the meeting without any action at all, save electing a chairman, who held his seat only for ten minutes.

Injunction to Restrain Newly Elected Officers of Nashville—Meeting of the Old Council—Probable Election of the Old Officers by Military Force.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Sept. 30.—The city authorities to-day petitioned Chancellor Harrison for an injunction restraining the elected Mayor and Council from being inducted into office. It is understood that he will give them an early hearing.

The Commissioner of Registration called on Recorder Foster, and notified him that if he did not administer the oath of office to the new Mayor and Council, the Commissioner would.

The Council held a meeting, and amongst others adopted a resolution of instruction to Mayor Brown to ascertain from the Secretary of State whether the newly elected officers had taken the candidate's oath required by law.

It is believed that if the old officers do not vacate to-morrow, General Cooper will eject them by military force.

Lady Thorne won the first heat in 2:23¼. Mountain Bay second and Bruno distanced. Mountain Bay won the second race in 2:24¼. Lady Thorne won the third and fourth in 2:24 and 2:24.

Mountain Bay and Lady Thorne have been matched for a similar race for five thousand dollars, half forfeit, over Union Course on Monday next.

Results of the Election—Less than a Majority of the Registered Voters in New Orleans in Favor of a Convention—Different Result in the State.

NEW ORLEANS, September 30.—The total vote in the city falls 2,529 short of a majority of the registered voters.

The Republican has further returns from Algiers and the parishes of St. Bernard, St. Charles, and St. James, showing that so far 850 less than a majority of the number registered have voted on the convention question, but returns from the country parishes indicate that a majority in the whole State have voted. The vote against the convention was insignificant, as was the number of white voters. The proportion of white voters is less than one.

Meeting of City Councils.

A regular monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh City Councils was held Monday evening, September 30th.

SELECT BRANCH.

Members present: Messrs. Armstrong, Brown, Coffin, Crawford, Dickson, Gallaher, McCarthy, McEwen, Morrow, Phillips, Rees, Tanner, Thompson, White, Wilson, McAuley, President.

The Clerk being absent, J. C. McCarthy moved that J. D. Ramsey act as Clerk pro tem. Carried.

Mr. Armstrong, of the Ninth ward, offered a petition from the citizens residing on Second street, asking that the grading of said street be suspended for the present season. Referred to Street Committee with power to act.

Mr. Wilson presented the petition of John O'Keefe, setting forth that the property upon which he had paid a water tax was being torn down, and asking Councils to refund seven-twentieths of the tax paid. Referred to Water Committee.

Mr. Dickson presented the report of the Gas Committee, which recommended the erection of lamps as follows: On the corner of Seventh street and Cherry alley; Clay alley and Chatham street; Factory and Etna streets; Wilkins street and Mulberry alley; four lamps, equi-distant, on Tannehill street, between Webster street and Centre avenue; and three on Van Braam street, between Pennsylvania avenue and Bluff street. The report was accompanied by a resolution authorizing the Gas Company to erect the lamps at the points recommended by the Committee. The report was received and the resolution adopted.

The President read a communication from His Honor Mayor McCarthy, as follows:

To the Presidents of Select and Common Councils:

Gentlemen—According to the act of May 15th, 1857, all officers elected by the qualified voters of the city of Pittsburgh are subject to removal by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the Select Council, on the address of a majority of the whole number of members of the Common Council. This much by way of preface.

In the columns of a daily paper of this city, of acknowledged character and reputation, (and the motives of the writer of the article I do not pretend to question) appears a leading editorial article introduced under the startling head of "Scoundrelism in Pittsburgh," and from which I extract for the information of Councils the following portions:

"But the fact remains that "roughs" and rascals generally, are holding a high carnival in Pittsburgh."

And again: "But it is too late in the day to mince matters, and until our press ventilate this disagreeable subject thoroughly, there will be no effective measures taken to preserve the orderly and law-abiding elements from violence at the hands of lawless scoundrels."

And concludes with the following: "The patience of the orderly portion of our population is about exhausted, and people living and doing business in this town begin to think that we had better make less fuss about National and State politics, and turn our attention to the rectification of our municipal affairs."

If these statements are founded in truth, a proper regard for the safety of the citizens of Pittsburgh, as well as a due regard for the good name and reputation of our city imperatively demand at the hands of Councils an examination into this alleged deplorable state of affairs.

I therefore ask Councils to order the Police Committee to ascertain the truth of these assertions, to the end that if found true, and the fault lying at the door of the Mayor, he shall be impeached and removed from office, according to the Act of May, 1857; or, if true, and not the fault of the Chief Executive officer of the city, let the corrective be applied in the proper quarter. And, if found that the facts do not warrant the charges, it is but right the citizens should know it from a responsible official source.

Yours, respectfully,
WM. C. McCARTHY, Mayor.

The communication was received and filed.

The City Solicitor presented his report in relation to the petition of F. L. C. Vandegrift, asking for compensation for goods destroyed on the Monongahela wharf, on the seventh of May, on account of the sewers at that point having become obstructed, whereby the wharf was overflowed and his goods destroyed, which matters had been presented in S. C. at a previous meeting and referred to him for his opinion. The report recommended that as there was a question of fact as well as law involved in the matter, that it be referred to a committee. Received and referred to a Joint Committee of five, and Messrs. Morrow and Brown appointed from S. C.

A petition asking for the grading and paving of Overhill street, was read and referred to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. White, of the Street Committee, presented the report of the Viewers appointed to view the property benefitted by the Virgin alley sewer and make assessments to meet the expenses of the same. These amount to $9,227.75. Report received and adopted.

An ordinance providing for and granting permission to open streets was read three times and passed.

A resolution authorizing the payment of $30 to James Onslow, that being the amount overpaid by him on the assessment for grading and paving Clark street, was next taken up, read tree times and passed.

An ordinance authorizing the grading and paving of Lumber street, from Penn to Mulbery alley, went to a third reading and passed.

Mr. Morrow offered a resolution authorizing a fire plug to be placed at the corner of Locust and Chestnut streets, which was read three times and passed.

An ordinance providing for the paving of Wood street from Water to Fifth, with the Nicolson pavement, which was passed in C. C., was then taken up.

Mr. McAuley (Mr. Wilson in the Chair) said that he would have to oppose the matter, no matter what his views might be in regard to it. That a majority of the property holders on Wood street were opposed to it, and they being his constituents, it was his duty to oppose it. In addition to this they had already exposed the property holders along that street to an enormous tax to meet the expense of the new sewer which had just been constructed; the season was far advanced and it was too late to put the Nicolson pavement on it. And he was not satisfied about the advantages of it at any rate; he thought that some of the citizens had "Nicolson pavement on the brain."

Mr. McCarthy said that with all due respect to the gentleman who had just spoken, he thought he was growing old, and perhaps too skeptical in regard to improvements. That many of his arguments were strong reasons why the pavement should be adopted and put down at once.

Mr. Gallaher asked that the ordinance be read, after which he moved to amend it by inserting: "that the expenses of said pavement be defrayed by the property holders along the street," which was lost.

Mr. Morrow said that that matter was settled by an ordinance; that all paving was paid for by the owners of property and not by the city. He said that he was in favor of the Nicolson pavement, and thought that Wood street was the place to try it.

Mr. M'Auley moved to lay the matter on the table, and called for the yeas and nays. The result was as follows: Yeas—Messrs. Brown, Crawford, Wilson and M'Auley—4. Nays—Messrs. Armstrong, Coffin, Dickson, Gallaher, McCarthy, M'Ewen, Morrow, Rees, Tanner, Thompson and White—11.

So the motion was lost.

Mr. Rees moved to amend by inserting the words "providing the consent of a majority of the property holders on Wood street first be obtained." The amendment was not agreed to.

Mr. McCarthy moved to concur in the action of C. C., which was carried and the ordinance was read three times and finally passed.

An ordinance providing for the opening of Diamond alley from the west side of the Diamond to Liberty street was then taken up, and after considerable discussion a motion to lay it on the table was made, and the yeas and nays called, with the following result: Yeas, 2; nays 14. The question then recurred to the third reading and final passage of the ordinance, and a motion to that effect prevailed.

Mr. Morrow presented a petition from the citizens of the Eighth ward, setting forth that Cooper and Eagle streets were being graded and paved without any authority from Councils, in consequence of which they were in bad condition, and asking that the same might be stopped as it was a nuisance. The petition was accompanied by a resolution authorizing the Street Commissioner to investigate the matter and have the nuisance abated. The petition was received and the resolution adopted.

Councils adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Members present—Messrs. Barnhill, Beck, Boggs, Brush, Ford, Hare, Hemphill, House, Mawhinney, McQuewan, McClelland, McGowan, O'Neill, Rebman, Reed, Roenigk, Roberts, Seibert, Sloan, Torley, Weldon and President Steel.

The minutes of preceding meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Torley presented a petition from Mr. A. G. Myers, patentee of a new street lamp, in regard to the introduction of said lamp in this city. The petition was read and referred to the Committee on Gas.

Mr. Weldon presented a petition from residents on Fifth street extension, and also on Congress street, praying that water pipes be laid on said streets. Referred to Committee on Water.

Mr. Beck presented a petition for the erection of public gas lamps on Locust street, Fifth ward, and also two on Pride street, in the Eighth ward. Referred to Committee on Gas.

Mr. Beck also presented a petition from residents of Vine street, in the Fifth ward, for the introduction of water pipe on said thoroughfare. Referred to Committee on Water.

Mr. Ford, from the Committee on Streets, offered an ordinance providing for the repaving of Wood street, between Water and Fifth streets, with the new Nicolson pavement. Mr. Ford stated that a great majority of the citizens on said thoroughfare were favorable to the improvement, as they believed the opportunity was a good one to test the durability of the pavement.

Mr. Reed desired to know whether any arrangement could be effected with the contractor for the sewer on said street, in regard to the repaving of the street.

Mr. Ford said that the contractor was willing to relinquish that portion of his contract, provided he was permitted to remove the old paving stones.

Mr O'Neill spoke in favor of the passage of the ordinance, stating that he believed that the Nicolson pavement should be introduced, and no better opportunity could be afforded for doing so.

The rules were suspended and ordinance passed without one dissenting voice.

Mr. Ford presented an ordinance for the paving of Fifth street, from Market to Smithfield street, with the Nicolson pavement. A petition from citizens of the street, asking for said improvement, was also read.

Mr. Reed opposed the passage of the ordinance, as the petition had not been signed by a majority of property holders on said street. A large portion of said improvement would be in front of the Custom House, and it was well known that the Government had always refused to pay such assessments.

Mr. Ford stated that a late Grand Jury of the United States Court had recommended such improvement, and he did not anticipate any difficulty as to payment.

The yeas and nays were called and resulted in twenty-one yeas to one nay—Mr. Reed voting in the negative.

Mr. Ford offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That hereafter, the lighting of the various engine houses shall be under the charge of the Committee on Gas Lighting, and that the same shall be paid for by warrants drawn on Appropriation No. 5, (Gas Lightning.)

Mr. Ford stated that the fire companies were charged $1.50 per 1,000 feet, while the city was supplied at the rate of sixty cents per 1,000 feet.

Considerable discussion ensued, after which the resolution was referred to the Committee on Streets, with instructions to report at next meeting.

Mr. Roenigk presented a petition from the managers of the Turners' Association, asking that a water main be laid on Sixth street, between Grant street and Cherry alley. Read and referred to the Committee on Water.

Mr. Torley offered a resolution providing for the erection of a fire plug on the corner of Fifth street and Cherry alley. Read and referred to the Committee on Water.

Mr. Brush presented a communication from the Central Board of Education, asking that a committee be appointed to audit the accounts of the Board for the fiscal year. The report was accepted, and Messrs. House and M'Clelland appointed on behalf of C. C. S. C. concurred, and appointed Dr. Gallaher.

Mr. Hare presented a petition for the erection of a sewer on Diamond alley, between Wood street and the market buildings. Read and referred to Committee on Streets.

Mr. Brush offered an ordinance authorizing the grading of Middle street, between Centre Avenue and Reed street. The rules were suspended, and the ordinance read three times and finally passed.

Mr. Ford offered the following, which was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has laid down a track across Morton street, without obtaining from the city any authority therefor; and whereas said track is considerably higher than the established grade of the street, and an obstruction to the travel, and of considerable danger, rendering parties traveling on said street liable to accident; therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Solicitor be authorized to take such legal steps as may be necessary to cause the removal of said obstruction.

On motion adjourned.

Republican Meeting in the Upper Wards.

The Republicans of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards assembled in mass meeting at the Sixth ward school house last evening, pursuant to call. A very large crowd had collected, and at the time announced, half past seven o'clock, order was called, and Major A. M. Brown chosen Chairman. The following other officers were also selected.

Vice Presidents—John Floyd, Henry Cochran, V. G. Elliott, James Fleming, John Barr, William Shore, Jr., David McKnight, James Little, Jr., James Mawhinney, E. S. Morrow, George Hamilton, Max K. Moorhead, Wm. E. Hays, James Robb, James Lowry, Jr., Wm. H. Glenn, Robert Robb, Jos. A. Butler, Jared M. Brush and Wm. Freeman.

Secretaries—J. N. Coursin, N. P. Reed, John C. Harper, Thos. T. Everett, Frank Case, and Otis B. Childs.

After a few remarks Maj. Brown introduced Gen. Joshua Owen, of Philadelphia, who delivered a most eloquent and stirring address on the great topics of the day. He urged Republicans to earnest efforts on Tuesday next to carry the day against rebel-Johnsonism by electing Hon. Henry W. Williams to the Supreme Bench by an Andy Curtin majority over Sharswood, the Democratic candidate. His remarks elicited marked enthusiasm, indicating that the Republicans of the upper wards were fully alive to the duties of the hour. The General concluded amidst the greatest applause.

Hon. F. C. Shannon delivered the next speech, and entertained the audience for some time by his impressive and earnest arguments on the political situation. The country was in danger—the perils encountered in 1861 still lingered, and it remained for Pennsylvania to once more raise her voice in condemnation of the course of President Johnson and the Democracy in seeking to defeat the reconstruction policy of Congress, by affiliation with those who were lately in arms for the purpose of breaking up the Union. The election to the Supreme Bench of Hon. H. W. Williams by a decided majority would be telling Andrew Johnson and other rebel sympathizers that the loyal people would stand by their Representatives in Congress. The speaker alluded in eloquent terms to Grant, Sheridan and Sickles, and expressed his confidence that in the future as in the past they would stand by the country through her darkest peril.

W. C. Moreland, Esq., was the next speaker, and made a brief and eloquent address. He passed a high eulogium upon the private and professional character of Judge Williams, and took occasion to allude to the manifesto of David Paul Brown, Esq., in the interest of Judge Sharswood. As the author of it was without weight or influence, so his effusion would prove harmless with the truly loyal men of the State.

When Mr. Moreland concluded Major Brown was called for, and responded in a few remarks, after which the meeting adjourned.

Attempt to Rape a Child.

Last night Alderman Irwin, assisted by citizen George Hannan, arrested at the boarding house of Mrs. Elizabeth Watters, Penn street, Ninth ward, a man named Nicholas Mays, who is charged with an attempt to outrage the person of the little daughter of the landlady. It is charged that he was left momentarily alone with the little girl, who is about seven years of age, in the dining room of the house, where he endeavored to accomplish a fiendish deed. Her cries brought timely relief. In default of $5,000 bail the prisoner was committed to jail for a hearing on Wednesday next. He is a single man about thirty-two years of age and did not appear intoxicated at the time of his alleged attempt.

Terrible Accident.

Michael Boland, who was a tavern keeper at Johnstown, was killed at the Blairsville intersection on Wednesday evening last by being run over by the express going east. Boland was standing on the platform. It is not known whether he tried to get off the train or fell from it. Through the energy of Messrs. Kitchie and McCabe, an engine was soon in readiness to take Dr. Hughes to the intersection. The Doctor found Boland in a very critical condition, both legs having been crushed above the knees. Everything was done for the injured man that was possible, but he never recovered from the shock. He died in about an hour after the accident.

The Nicolson Pavement.

It will be seen, by reference to the proceedings of City Councils, in to-day's Gazette, that Wood and Fifth streets are to be paved with the Nicolson pavement. The matter has been agitated in Councils for several months, and it cannot, therefore, be said that it was "sneaked" through. Its advantages and disadvantages have been fully canvassed, and we believe that not only Councils, but a large majority of the citizens, are satisfied of its superiority over the cobble stone pavement, and that the action of Councils, in authorizing its adoption on the streets named, will be very generally endorsed by the people.

Republican Meeting at Mansfield Last Night.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held at Mansfield last night, at which addresses were delivered by Thos. Howard, H. H. McCormick and R. A. Cameron, Esqs. The meeting was orderly and the speeches were listened to with the most respectful attention, the audience at times manifesting considerable enthusiasm. The Republicans in that neighborhood are active, and will give a good account of themselves at the election on Tuesday next.

Almost a Fight occurred in the antiroom of the grand jury yesterday between two lawyers. One of them was very anxious, apparently, for muscular exercise, while the other, regarding his position and the place, declined the challenge—otherwise the valiant man might have "found out" the effective force of the object of his wrath.

A warrant was issued for the accused who was arrested and after a hearing committed for trial in default of three hundred dollars bail.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Andrew Patterson appeared before Alderman Thomas yesterday and made information charging Thomas Clemans with assault and battery. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant struck him in the face, scratched his neck, pushed him against a wagon and otherwise abused him. A hearing of the case resulted in the defendant being held to bail. The parties reside in the Seventh Ward.

FALSE PRETENSE.

Francis Wagner made an information before Alderman Thomas, charging Edward Buckenot with false pretense. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant obtained boarding to the amount of ten dollars from him under false representations. The defendant was held to bail. The parties reside on Pride street, in the Eighth Ward.

Jewelry.

We had occasion a few days ago to speak somewhat in detail of the jewelry establishment of Mr. T. H. Klages, at No. 93 Federal street, Allegheny. The location could not be more eligible for the convenience of its Allegheny patrons; and the good people of Pittsburgh would find it to their account in knowing more of Mr. Klages and his wares. The store is fitted up with excellent taste, the stock is extensive, embracing in addition to all the goods usually kept in a first class jewelry store, a fine assortment of solid and plated silver ware, and sets of elegant pattern and exquisite finish, in the selection and arrangement of which Mr. Klages has exhibited fine taste, and we learn from outside sources that he has adopted the "nimble sixpence" policy of selling a great deal at a small profit rather than a very little at a large profit, so that we feel warranted in advising our readers, whether on this side of the river or that, that they will find at 93 Federal street, one of the largest, most varied and complete assortments of clocks, watches, coffee and tea sets and fancy ware and jewelry generally to be found in either city, and at very moderate prices. They will also find in Mr. Klages a gentleman of strict probity and of such pleasing manners that they will incline to renew their calls and orders.

EX-ADMIRAL SEMMES has been going backward so long that his ideas of things generally are getting rather mixed. He says in a late number of his paper: "We regard the President's impeachment as highly probable, unless the fall elections put a bridle on the unruly rump." But perhaps it is too much after all to expect a seafaring man to know much about the use of a bridle.

GENERAL CARL SCHURZ, of the St. Louis Westliche Post, has written a letter denying the statement now being extensively copied in Democratic papers, that he had advised the Germans, while standing by Republican principles in National elections, to separate themselves from the Republican party on State and local elections.

A DEMOCRATIC TRICK.

We understand that the Democrats, who, in certain portions of this county, propose to vote the Workingmen's Ticket, offer to do so upon the condition that the Republican Workingmen shall vote for SHARSWOOD! They know there is no chance for the election of the Democratic county ticket, and they can well afford to vote for the Workingmen's ticket if, by so doing, they can make a vote for SHARSWOOD.

Let the Republican Workingmen beware of this trick. There is no scheme of this kind that the Democratic politicians will not resort to; but they can succeed only with those who are not aware of the trick. Every vote cast for SHARSWOOD is a vote for JOHNSON and the Rebels, no matter what may be the consideration paid for it.

SKETCHING FROM NATURE.

During the past Summer a party of ladies, advanced pupils of the Pittsburgh School of Design, accompanied by their lady Principal, Miss E. K. Hayhurst, Mr. George Hetzel, their instructor in landscape painting, and several of our well known artists, left on a sketching excursion, their object being to sketch from nature and perfect themselves in a practical knowledge of Art.

After a day spent in traveling they arrived at Shade Furnace, in Somerset county. Here had once been a furnace for smelting iron ore, but owing to the difficulty of transportation over rough roads the business was abandoned some ten years ago. Since then the place has been in the hands of Nature. Traces of the busy life once there, however, still linger in the deserted log cabins, through whose floors the grass grows, in the old grist and saw mills on Shade Creek, the noisy clamor of whose great wheels (now moldering to decay) once waked the mountain echos, and in the ruins of the furnace, looking like some old tower of defence.

Here, among the wildest and most picturesque scenery of the "grand old Alleghenies," our artists encamped. A story and a half frame building, with three rooms, once a store, but unoccupied for some years, was fitted up for lodging rooms, while another near by, with an immense stone chimney, once a cooper shop, was converted into dining room and kitchen. The latter part of the establishment was in charge of an elderly colored man, who officiated as cook. A few yards from the door of "Artist's Lodge," and just at the foot of a thickly wooded mountain, ran Shade Creek, the roar of whose waters as they rushed over and around the huge rocks in its bed, never ceased. Going up this stream about a mile one arrived at the junction of Dark and Clear Shade creeks, the uniting of whose waters form Shade Creek. A little further up Dark Shade and there is found scenery of such wildness and beauty as fills the beholder with wonder and delight. Here, also, was caught in abundance the delicious mountain trout, which speedily became a favorite dish for breakfast.

The Monday after arrival the members of the party went earnestly to work, transferring to canvass the beautiful views surrounding them. The ladies, discarding crinoline, adopted a picturesque and becoming costume of short dress and sack, high boots and large garden hat. Thus attired, and provided with sketch box, umbrella and camp stool, they every fine morning, in parties of two, three or more, departed to the scenes they had chosen, sometimes going a mile and a half through thick forest, over rocks and fallen trees, and through tangled laurel, to Dark Shade Creek. Here, seated on great rocks, around which the mountain torrent rushed, they sketched the grand, beautiful views. At noon they gathered on some broad rock and discussed a bountiful luncheon, for which mountain air had given them keen appetites. At five they retraced their steps homeward, to spend the evening in merry conversation and music, around a cheerful wood fire, and many were the funny stories and witty sayings which owed their inspiration to its bright blaze.

Space fails to tell of the pleasant church services in a barn, of the amusing mishaps of inexperienced fishermen, who, in trying to catch trout, lost footing on the slippery rocks and caught "duckings" instead, of the exploits of the lean mountain pigs, who one day in the absence of the cook disposed of ten pounds of excellent butter to their satisfaction if not to his; and other amusing incidents. But long will the trip be remembered by those who were fortunate to enjoy its pleasant incidents, and many advantages for improvement in the knowledge of art.

THE SPIRIT OF COMPROMISE.

When rebel guns thundered against Fort Sumter, in April, '61, and the reverberation rang through the mountain passes of New England and California, and rolled over hill and plain of all the Middle and Western States, the loyal people raised the strong right arm and swore that the Union, thus severed, should be once more restored. For this men left the plow in the furrow, the axe in the log, the plane on the work bench, the ledger on the desk, the book on the office and library unclasped, from about their necks the clinging arms of those dearer than life, and, like Curtius, cast thousands into the gulf which had rent their country into factions. Hundreds of thousands went down to death and up to immortality, that the devouring maw of Disunion might be appeased. The subterranean demon which rent our land with earthquake throes, was compromise with slavery. Our fathers laid the foundations of their structure on this evil thing, and when it had accumulated power to burst the bonds assigned it, and rend the solid earth. The people saw the fizzure, but were slow to distinguish the cause. To close the breach was the first idea; but when bridging and filling had been tried in vain we were forced to the expedient of dislodging the monster. The dividing cause disposed of, the riven rocks closed in, and were cemented by rivers of patriot blood, and we fancied our wound was healed. But it soon become apparent that, like MILTON's scaly monster, "the corner stone of our Republic," having been very much alive, had been very prolific. A whole nest of young Compromises lay asleep under the smoother surface on which our people stood, in April, '65, to shake hands and congratulate one another on the healing of the breach. But in the very midst of throwing up our caps the earth began to quake, and for more than two years the oscillations have been kept up. Underneath this ground dwell the disturbing spirits, who struggle and cry, "give, give!"

Shall we yield to their demand, grant them the means of growth, or crush them now, and save ourselves and children from the ruin they are sure to bring, if we neglect the duty of the hour, which is their utter extermination?

Had our fathers rejected all compromises with slavery, and formed a compact of as many States as would have heartily subscribed to their Declaration, they would have laid their foundation on the rock of ages, and no imprisoned discontent, like a drop of water turned to ice, could have rent the fabric they reared. No laws of revolution could have shaken its outer wall. Half of the original Thirteen, a third or fourth of them, organized on the eternal principles of equal justice, must soon have overshadowed and absorbed all others on a slavery foundation, and would have been stronger to day than the Union they made on a compromise. Will we profit by the lesson taught by their mistake, or rebuild on this nest of young compromises which even now shakes the earth with the premonitions of coming revolution? Let the people arise in their might, secure the consummation for which our martyrs have died, strangle the monsters which now clamor for life—but would soon demand dominion and bring desolation; and lay the foundations of our reconstructed government, broad and deep, with no disturbing, no explosive force, beneath its corner-stone; but resting on a basis firmer than the everlasting hills, and able to stand when the floods shall break against it.

It is in vain that our land has been clothed in mourning and drenched in blood, in vain that cities have been battered down; navies sunk; fruitful fields trampled as highways, and posterity loaded with debt, if we are but to repeat the old experiment of serving God and Mammon; uniting light and darkness; marrying Liberty and Slavery; yoking the theory of Equal Rights for all, to the practice of No Rights to some; and having the paradox of a Christian civilization put to shame by Mahomedan barbarism. If the spirit of slavery, and those men, who from infancy have only breathed its spirit, are to have lot or part in restoring the Government they have labored to destroy, those patriots who died that their country might live, will surely rise in a terrible judgment against the recreants to whom is committed the duty of finishing the work they so nobly began.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

Change of Seeds.

I made many inquiries and collected quite a number of items, facts, or at least supposed facts, in relation to the change of farm crop seeds, but as it would require entirely too much space to give the details of a tenth part of them, I must content myself by giving a simple statement of the conclusions I arrived at, based, of course, upon the statements detailed to me. It appears that any farm crop, as wheat, for example, may be much improved by culture on a farm with appropriate soil; but there is a limit to this improvement to this variety, which I will designate as variety A, on this farm, which I will designate as farm No. 1. After the limit of improvement has been attained on No. 1, it will then, for a series of years, remain stationary, and after that even with the best culture, will deteriorate. But if, when it has attained its limit on No. 1, and is then transferred to a farm No. 2, then it will improve again on No. 2, etc. Whilst the variety A is deteriorating on farm No. 1, the variety B, under proper treatment from farm No. 2 or 3, will improve by the side of it. Hence, the German farmers have adopted a system of seed exchanges and are anxious to obtain seed from foreign countries. They seem to have given this subject a great deal of attention, and take into account the kind of soil, meteorology, and level above the sea where the seeds were grown, and I am inclined to think they make it a point to obtain good seeds from elevated regions grown on an interior soil. The exchanges are conducted mostly by the local agricultural societies. The Sonderhausen agricultural association have made many experiments in the exchange of seeds, and now recommend, as the result of their experience, that "seeds from a good rich soil, to a cold and indifferent one is profitable, and vice versa."—J. H. Klippart.

Why is it that Potatoes Yield Less than Formerly?

A correspondent of a late number of your paper, wishes to be told why the yield of potatoes is less than formerly. The reason is not difficult of discovery. It exists as a law of nature, embracing animal as well as vegetable organisms. These all have excretory as well as secretory functions. All throw off effete matter, and this effete matter is hateful to the secretory vessels on which vegetables depend for their development. If many crops in succession, of the same vegetables are grown, the effete matter increases in proportion to the nutritive, and finally overcomes all efforts at successful cultivation. The food decreases and the poison increases with every crop. If manure, general or special, is added to the soil, it increases the food, but not necessarily diminishes the poisonous effete matter. One hundred years ago potatoes were but little cultivated, and most grounds were left fresh for their production. Then and long afterwards four hundred bushels was not an extraordinary yield. Now the increased taste for its use, and the great augmentation of our people, in number and ability to purchase, have made it necessary that great breadths of land should be used for its growth. In consequence of this much of the land has become weakened to a degree that invites destructive enemies to feed on its substance—to take advantage of its weakened organization. Hence the rot, so called, and other ailments. Mother earth is a good mother, but like her sex generally, she has a taste for variety in other adornments. She will change her dress, even the most durable of her fabrics—her forests. These are ever varying in composition, and finally thrown off altogether in grasses. These, again, have their round of varieties, and in their long course of years, give place to other plants. Mother earth will have her way, and those of us, her children, who best understand her requirements, will partake most largely of her bounties.—Correspondence in Country Gentleman.

Harvesting Carrots.

Mr. Ware, of Marblehead, stated to the Board of Agriculture the method of harvesting carrots as practiced there, as follows:

Our method is to top them, either with a hoe or shovel, (we generally use a shovel,) and then use a subsoil plow; and so far as my experience goes, it is the only use to which a subsoil plow can be put to any advantage in our county. Previously to plowing, the tops are raked off the field, so as to be entirely out of the way. We then run the subsoil plow directly by the side of the row of roots, which lifts them out of the ground about two inches; then with potato diggers, forks or hoes, we go along and rake them out, so as to lift them from the ground, and throw them inward, leaving room for the team to go through again. We first turn a back furrow in the centre of the piece, and go round that back furrow, drawing the carrots into the centre, and leaving a space for the horse or ox to travel, without treading upon the carrots. That leaves them spread all over the surface of the ground. We do that in the forenoon; we pick them up, throw them into the carts, and put them into the cellar. That gives about half a day's time for the carrots to dry; and in picking them from the ground and throwing them into baskets, the dirt is mostly shaken off; so that, if the weather is suitable,—and dry weather ought to be chosen for the harvesting of roots,—they will go into the cellar dry, which, in my opinion, is very important.—State Agricultural Report.

To Remove the Skin from Peaches.

Make a lye as strong as possible of wood ashes and soft water. Fill a kettle with the lye, and, when boiling rapidly, drop in twelve or eighteen peaches, and take out again almost immediately, and immerse them in a pail of water. Take one in your hand and you will perceive that the rind will slip off entirely, leaving a round, beautiful yellow ball; throw it immediately into another pail of pure water, and so proceed till all are done. This process will not injure the flavor of the finest peach, and once tried, the old-fashioned method of peeling with a knife will not again be adopted. If the lye is not strong enough, put into the kettle two dippersful of clean wood ashes. This is an excellent way to rid small onions of their jackets preparatory to pickling them. Try it.

The Potato Rot.

A farmer contributes to the Upper Dauphin Register the following remedy for the potato rot, which this year seems to be epidemic in Berks and neighboring counties:

"Raise your potatoes as soon as you can after they begin to rot,—put fine lime under where you lay them, and as you deposit the potatoes spread thoroughly amongst them the lime to the top of the heap, and the potatoes will not only keep free from rot, but the rot that has begun in any of them will be arrested and dried up. The lime will not injure the quality of the potatoes in the least, but improves them. A pint of lime put into a hill of potatoes when planted will entirely prevent rot. If a quart is put in it will not be too much. Let those who doubt this try it as I have done."

KEEP YOUR BEST STOCK.—Many farmers are in the habit of selling their best animals, as they will bring the highest price. A greater mistake cannot be made. A difference of ten, or even twenty per cent., in the price of a single animal, is a small affair compared with the difference of a whole herd. By keeping the very best to propagate from, the whole may be made of equal excellence, and in the course of a few years numerous animals might be produced, having the excellent properties that now distinguish some few of the best.

HOW TO KEEP MEAT FRESH.—Simply immerse it in buttermilk. This will keep it for several days, when the milk should be changed, and fresh milk substituted. In this way, beef, veal, &c., can be kept for several weeks and it will be as sweet and fresh at the end of that time as when first put in. Our butcher furnished us with the receipt. The whole neighborhood is now saving its meat in this way. It is equally efficacious in the hottest weather.—F. G., in Rural World.

TOMATO WINE.—Take small ripe tomatoes, pick off the stems, put them in a basket or tub, wash clean, then mash well and strain through a linen; (a bushel will make five gallons pure;) then add two and a half to three pounds of good brown sugar to each gallon, then put it into a cask and let it ferment as for raspberry wine. If two gallons of water be added to each bushel of tomatoes the wine will be as good.

WORTH KNOWING.—The following item is going the rounds of the papers: "One of the most annoying and painful so called 'little' troubles is a felon. A genuine remedy is worth circulating. An exchange says a poultice of onions, applied morning, noon and night, for three or four days, will cure a felon. No matter how bad the case, lancing the finger will be unnecessary if this poultice be used; the remedy is a sure, safe and speedy one."

TO DESTROY ANTS.—Get a large loose sponge, wash it clean, and sprinkle it over with sugar, and lay it where most of the ants do congregate—they will soon fill every cell, and it will be to them a sell, too, for you have only to dip your sponge in hot water, to slay them by the hundred.

TO KEEP borers and other insects from fruit trees, the following wash is recommended by one who has tried it. Put into a water tight barrel, one pail of soft soap, four quarts of sulphur, four quarts of air slacked lime; four quarts of wood ashes, half a bushel of cow or hen manure, and water enough to fill the barrel.

IN England there are many farmers who more than support themselves and large families on the product of six acres, besides paying heavy rents. Agriculturalists in Germany who are proprietors of five acres, support themselves, and lay up money on the product of the remainder.

A DANGEROUS SEASON.

An almost unparalleled quantity of rain has fallen during the summer. Vegetation has been wonderfully thick and rank, and, as it decays, an unusual amount of sickness may be expected unless proper means are taken to prevent it.

Fever and ague and bilious remittents already prevail to an alarming extent, and as the Fall advances and the malarious night fogs become heavier, the sick list is likely to increase both in the city and the country. It is, therefore, only an act of common prudence to keep the vital forces in full vigor, so that they may resist the unhealthy influences of the season. Re-inforced by the tonic operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the system, however weak and susceptible, naturally will, in nine cases out of ten, successfully combat every species of atmospheric poison by which epidemics are produced.

During the months of September, October and November, the difference in temperature between day and night is very great, and the chilling dews and mists of the season are the prolific causes of indigestion, cholera morbus, diarrhea and dysentery. Bearing this in mind, remember, also, that the BITTERS not only invigorate the stomach and brace the nerves, but act specifically upon the bowels and the liver, imparting to those important organs regularity and tone. It is not reasonable to expect immunity from prevalent complaints if no precautions are taken to escape them.

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are at once pleasant to the taste, and the most certain of all safeguards against febrile ailments.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, C——.

Dr. Keyser's consultation rooms are No. 120 Penn street, from 8 A. M. until 4 p. m.

Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. We will give you an order for a large size safe when we get into our new store. Truly yours,

THE COURTS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

This Court met Monday morning, at ten o'clock. The following cases were disposed of:

A. AND B. CASE—REFRACTORY JUROR.

Alfred Copper was placed on trial on a charge of assault and battery, on oath of George Egley. The offense was alleged to have been committed at Parke & Co's steel works, in the Ninth ward, on the 20th of August, the difficulty growing out of the fact that one of the parties had been discharged from work. The jury came into court and rendered a verdict which the clerk announced as guilty, with a recommendation to mercy. Luke B. Davison, one of the jurors, said he had not agreed to such a verdict, but had distinctly voted against the recommendation, and had not changed his mind. The jury accordingly again retired. After further deliberation Mr. Davison concurred with the "eleven stubborn men" in recommending the defendant to the mercy of the Court, and the verdict as first recorded was allowed to stand.

ROBBERY FROM THE PERSON.

James Brown, whose calling has been that of a "bar tender" at various places in the city for some years past, was placed on trial on a charge of robbing H. S. Overholt, of Westmoreland county, of one thousand dollars. Mr. Overholt testified that he was in the city on business on the 31st of July last; that he had been to the Fourth National Bank, had drawn the money, and was on his way to the railroad depot to return home; when a short distance below the Mansion House he stopped at a fruit stand, and while there a man came up, thrust his hand into his (Mr. O's.) side vest pocket, took out the money package and ran up street, witness following after crying "stop thief." Mr. Overholt identified the prisoner as the man who accosted him at the fruit stand, robbed him and ran away. On cross-examination Mr. Overholt stated that he had been drinking and was not as sober as he should have been; had been in several saloons during the day.

Mr Reardon, member of the bar, testified that on the evening of the occurrence he was passing up Smithfield street, and passed Mr. Overholt; when near the Mansion House, on Liberty street, he heard the cry of "stop thief;" was struck on the shoulder; saw a man running up the alley at the Mansion House, and turning round he saw Mr. Overholt, who said he had been robbed; Mr. Reardon said he recognized the man who ran up the alley as a man he had seen, just previously, standing at a drug store at the corner of Smithfield and Liberty streets; he believed the prisoner was the man.

Chief of Police Scott testified that he arrested the prisoner Brown about eleven o'clock on the night of the 31st of July, at the saloon of Elijah Hall, on Smithfield street, where he was employed as bar keeper; had no warrant for his arrest, no information having yet been made.

George Thomas, sixteen years of age, was on Liberty street at the time of the robbery, and near where it occurred; saw a man running up the street, and heard Mr. Overholt calling out "stop that man." The man who ran up the street looked back several times, as if to divert attention from himself, and as if he came to the Mansion House he ran up the alley; witness believed the prisoner was the man, but there was a possibility of his being mistaken.

H. C. Mackrell, Esq., counsel for the defense, said he did not consider the Commonwealth had shown beyond a doubt that Mr. Overholt had been robbed. He would, however, call a few witnesses to show the prisoner's whereabouts from four o'clock until six on the afternoon of the robbery, covering the time at which it was alleged to have been committed, and leave the jury to judge whether or not a clear case of guilt was made out.

Several witnesses were called and testified that they had seen and had been with the prisoner at different times between four and six o'clock, but what could be called an alibi was not established.

The evidence in the case closed, leaving the guilt or innocence of the prisoner dependant upon the question of identity. Mr. Mackrell made the best argument the case permitted of, and ably discussed the matter of identity, giving pointed illustrations of the liability to mistake in this respect. He believed there was such a doubt, arising from the evidence presented, as would justify the jury in acquitting the prisoner. J. M. Kirkpatrick, Esq., presented the case upon behalf of the Commonwealth in his usual forcible style, quite upsetting the cobweb defence. The jury found a verdict of guilty. Remanded for sentence.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE.

Commonwealth vs. Thomas Hulings; indictment assault and battery; Richard Bradley, prosecutor. The defendant is a tavern keeper at Deer Creek, and had a difficulty in his bar with Bradley, which terminated in the latter being ejected, knocked down, and, as he expressed it, "kicked for falling." Verdict, not guilty, prosecutor and defendant each to pay one half the costs.

A BEEF THIEF.

John Graham was tried for the larceny from Stall No. 27, Diamond Market, occupied by L. A. Hoffman, on the 10th of September, of a shank or round of beef weighing thirty-seven pounds and valued at four dollars. It was in evidence that the prisoner at the time of taking the meat was very much intoxicated; also that he had borne a uniform good character, and for the last ten years had been the sole support of his parents, who were aged and infirm, and with whom he resided. Jury out at adjournment.

The Court and the District Attorney—A Question of Practice.

Some feeling, if not anger at least somewhat animated, arose yesterday between Col. L. B. Duff, District Attorney, and Hon. James P. Sterrett, presiding in the Quarter Sessions.

J. N. McClowry, Esq., counsel for the defense in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Hulings, was anxious to have it called up, alleging that it had been so arranged, and stating further that the defendant was in attendance at considerable inconvenience, residing some sixteen miles from the city.

Col. Duff did not wish to take it up, other cases having precedence. The case of the Commonwealth vs. Brown had been called up, and the conversation ceased by Judge Sterrett remarking that Mr. McClowry's case would be taken up next.

The jury in Commonwealth vs. Brown having retired, Mr. McClowry again became persistent in his desire to have Commonwealth vs. Hulings next disposed of.

The District Attorney insisted upon taking up a different case.

Judge Sterrett said Mr. McClowry's request should be complied with.

Col. Duff made a formal protest. Without particular reference to the case of Commonwealth vs. Hulings, he desired to know if the Court was about to establish a precedent by calling up cases without reference to the arrangements of the District Attorney. If the Court would undertake to regulate the trial list, taking it entirely out of the hands of the District Attorney, that officer would be relieved of considerable trouble and responsibility.

Judge Sterrett replied that he did not propose to do anything of that sort, but he had understood the case in controversy was fixed to be taken up, that it would occupy but a short time, and thought it might as well be disposed of.

Colonel Duff maintained that the case had not been fixed to be taken up. On Monday last it was called, but the prosecutor did not answer, and he (Col. D.) had informed Mr. McClowry that he could not fix any time for the trial until he had seen the prosecutor.

Mr McClowry said it was his understanding the case would be taken up, and he hoped it would be so allowed.

Judge Sterrett directed the jury to be sworn, when Colonel Duff wished it understood that he declined to call up the case, and maintained it could not proceed legally without his consent. He would decline to join the defendant in his plea. His Honor directed the defendant to enter his plea and appointed J. W. Taylor, Esq., to prosecute the case.

This ended the controversy for the time, Colonel Duff, during the progress of the trial, executing a paper which he asked to be filed. It read as follows:

"Commonwealth vs Thos. Hulings. In the Court of Quarter Sessions. Assault and battery.

"And now to wit: Sept. 30, 1867, the above case being called by the Court, and the Court having directed the Clerk to swear the jury, the District Attorney objected, stating that he declined to call the case for trial and that the case could not legally come before the Court unless on his motion. The Court ordered the case to proceed, when the District Attorney declined to join issue on behalf of the Commonwealth to the defendant's plea of not guilty. The Court therefore appointed J. W. Taylor, Esq., to prosecute the case, and directed him to join issue on behalf of the Commonwealth to defendant's plea, and further directed the jury to be sworn, which was done accordingly.

"All of which proceedings the District Attorney claims are illegal, and desires that his objections be placed upon the record in this case."

The above paper having been filed, we are curious to know what further, if anything, will be done in the matter.

Common Pleas—Judge Mellon.

In this Court yesterday the case of Mary Ann Shaw vs. George E. Shaw, proceeding in divorce, was taken up and occupied the entire day. The difficulties between these parties have been reported so fully heretofore, in the criminal cases which have been tried, that we deem it unnecessary to go into the details of the present case, wherein the wife seeks a divorce from the husband, on the ground of cruel treatment. It was not concluded at adjournment.

The following is the list of cases set down for trial to-day:

78. Andrews et al. vs. Knowlder.
83. Hauner vs. Scott.
84. Stewart vs. Stewart.
85. Henry vs. John Agnew, Son & Co.
86. Grundloth vs. same.
87. O'Hare vs. Dain & Pitcairn.
90. Reamer, assignee, vs. Lamberton & Co.
92. Venn vs. Hald.
93. Bayer vs. Weiman.
97. Duck Creek V. Co. vs. Robinson.
98. Barrington vs. Koch.

District Court.

With the concurrence of members of the bar, jury trials in this Court, fixed to commence yesterday, have been further deferred until two weeks hence. The jurors in attendance yesterday, pursuant to summons, were accordingly discharged.

Coroner's Inquest.

Mr. William Hess, a farmer, who resides on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, near Hulton's Station, while passing through a pasture field on his farm, on Tuesday of last week, was attacked by a vicious bull and tossed in the air several times, after which he was tramped, gored and bitten by the maddened brute, to such an extent that he died from his injuries Saturday evening. Assistance was rendered him as soon as possible, but it was some time before the enraged animal could be driven away, when it was found that the unfortunate man had several ribs broken, and his body was bruised and torn in a shocking manner. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body, when a verdict was rendered by the jury in accordance with the above facts. The deceased was about sixty years of age, and leaves a widow and two grown up sons.

—Another large instalment of compounds will mature on the 15th proximo, and in the present state of the money market the probable course of the Secretary of the Treasury in relation thereto is being pretty extensively canvassed. Congress last spring, passed an act empowering the Secretary to issue $50,000,000 in three per cent. certificates, should he see fit to do so, to redeem the compounds falling due this year. Up to the present none of these certificates have been issued. All the matured compounds have been paid off in greenbacks, virtually contracting the currency to an equal amount. With the present demand for currency to move the grain crops of the West, we do not see how Mr. McCulloch can pay off the October compounds at maturity cor, treating the currency to the extent of some twenty or thirty millions. Such action would paralyze the business of the West. The New York Times, in discussing the point, takes a hopeful view of the case, and says: "Should the Western demand for currency continue there is a reasonable probability that the Secretary of the Treasury will employ a portion of his three per cent. legal tender certificates to the relief of the trade demands of the country to move the crops. The necessity for representing this point to him by the associated banks of the great cities who have to supply the West has not yet occurred, but we have no doubt it will yet be taken into consideration before another instalment upon the compound legal tender notes falls due, which will be about the 16th of October. Meanwhile we have as little question that the policy of the department will be to further reduce its currency balances by disbursements or purchases of 7-30 per cents at New York. The grant of authority by Congress to fortify the associated banks of the large cities with $50,000,000, to take the place of a corresponding amount of compound notes withdrawn, was made for just such a contingency in the money market as we find now occurring from the demands to move the Western crops, and we take it that Mr. McCulloch, as a Western man, understands the force of this point and his own duty in the premises, without any very urgent representations in advance of, or to justify his action."—Chicago Tribune.

—The Boston Post says: The dividends of the Boston Banks continue to make up remarkably well, and not a single institution pays less than last April. The Mount Vernon and State have, by good management, been enabled to recover from the losses last spring, which compelled them to pass their usual dividends at that period. The have both resumed, the Mount Vernon paying 6 per cent., and the State 5 per cent. Three others show an increase—the Freemans from 6 to 8 per cent., Hamilton from 5 to 6, and North America 4 to 4½ per cent. Generally, the Banks have done a good business the past six months, and notwithstanding the very handsome dividends paid, nearly all of them have still been able to credit the reserve account with a respectable amount. Half the Banks pay 5 per cent., and twelve more than that. Of the balance, eight pay 4 per cent., one 4½, and two 3½ per cent.—the forty-five together averaging 5¼ per cent.

—The funded debt of the Atlantic & Great Western Railroad Company is about thirty millions, of which seventeen millions is composed of "Divisional" bonds, and thirteen millions of "Consolidated bonds. We have seen no recent statement of the floating debt. The share capital is set at thirty millions.

—The receipts of the leading express companies in the first seven months of the current year, were as follows: Merchants' Union, $2,043,351; Adams, $1,990,030; United States, $1,312,838; American, $1,217,651.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 30, 1866.

CRUDE—The market was again very quiet to-day, not a single sale of any kind reported. Spot oil is still quoted at 13@13½c; all 1867, seller's option, at 12@12½c; and same delivery, buyer's option, at 13@13½c. There seems to be little or no demand for future deliveries, and, indeed, the inquiry for spot oil is not very urgent. We can report a sale of 3600 bbls in bulk—made on Friday last but not reported—on spot, at twelve and a half cents (41 gravity); and, on Saturday, there was a sale of 200 bbls at 13½c—on spot. We expect, and very naturally, too, that there will be those who will dispute the correctness of the above 3600 bbls at 12½c, but we are assured that it was a fair and square sale, free from all "after-claps" and that the same party who bought it has the refusal of 5000 bbls more at the same price, from the same seller.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also exceedingly quiet to-day, and while so far as we could learn, there was but a single sale, the Philadelphia market is reported considerably agitated, and apprehensions of a "corner" next month are entertained. It is stated that a prominent Pittsburgh operator, who is there, has been buying largely for October, and it is the interest of this party and his friends to get up a "corner" if such a thing can be done. Those who are conversant with how matters stand in that market, and whose opinions may be received with consideration, think that it is almost impossible to bring about a "corner," with the present large surplus stock in warehouses, estimated in round numbers at 40,000 barrels. There was but a single reported today, 500 bbls for all the year, 1867, buyer's option at 36c.

—Since the above was put in type, we have the followed sales reported: 500 bbls, for immediate delivery in Philadelphia, at 35½c; 500 for all the year, buyer's option, at 36c; and 1000 bbls crude, in bulk cars, at Oil City, at $4,25 per barrel.

The general markets were exceedingly dull to-day, and while there was little or nothing done except in a retail way, prices generally, have undergone no change. The demand for most of the leading commodities is restricted mainly to supplying the wants of the retail trade, and, consequently, we have no round lot operations to record.

RIVER NEWS.

Mr. W. H. Brown, a well-known Cincinnati and St. Louis pilot, is preparing to leave for California, where he will reside permanently.

Late New Orleans papers report that cotton will hereafter be moved without prepayment of tax, be being consigned to the collector of that port.

Captain M. J. Kohen, a steamboat commander, died in Savannah, Georgia, on Wednesday last. He was born and raised in Savannah, where his fathers had lived for generations, the name being identified with the commercial history of the State of Georgia. He was in his 35th year.

The railroads to St. Louis are putting the tariff on freight for reshipment at that point for Memphis, New Orleans and other points South pretty heavily; $1,50 is the figure for pound freight to Memphis, and to points lower down a proportionately higher figure.

The Louisville Courier says: We heard it rumored yesterday that the underwriters had refused to insure on barges. Such is not the case. They have not changed their rates since August last, and allow boats to tow model barges as lighters in the lower Ohio. The rates are 1½ per cent. to New Orleans, and 1¼ per cent. to Memphis. To this ½ per cent. is added if goods are towed in the Mississippi. Pork and bacon taken at ¼ per cent. less.

The Louisville Democrat says: Louisville has a chance to become "the head of navigation." There will be no "draw" in the bridge over the Falls, and boats at a fair stage of water cannot get up or down under it; so all we have to do now is to fill the canal with rocks, snags, &c., and we will have the "dead wood" on everything above here. We have only one thing to fear. The Cincinnati fellows would come down here, hide four or five old spoons back of town, let Butler know of the "hidden" treasure," and before Louisville would know what she was about, there would be a canal cut through and our city be thrown into a free State. It would be Louisville, Indiana, and an island at that. What shall we do!

EXPLOSION ON THE STEAMER ILLINOIS—TWO MEN INJURED.—About 12:30 p. m. yesterday, the "nigger" boiler on the steamer Illinois collapsed, causing the severe, although not fatal injury of two persons, one of whom (John Williams) was engaged in caulking the sides of the boat; the other was the deck sweeper, and we were unable to learn his name. The Illinois at the time was receiving a cargo for New Orleans, which was to be reshipped at Memphis on the barges of the M. V. T. Co. At the time of the explosion, labor had been suspended for the purpose of allowing the crew and laborers to get their dinner. The boiler which exploded was of the upright pattern, and by the force of the explosion was carried through the boiler and hurricane decks and landed on the wharf, at a distance of nearly 50 yards from the boat. The damage to the steamer will amount to about $2,500, consisting in the partial demolition of the boiler and hurricane decks, the destruction of the office, which was located immediately over the boiler; the disfigurement of the cabin and displacement of the chimneys. But a small portion of the cargo was injured; the remainder will be reshipped on the steamer Schuyler. The deck sweeper was the most severely injured, having his ankle broken; the other, although considerably bruised, will soon be able to resume his duties. The clerk of the boat, Mr. John Morrison, had a very narrow escape; he was in the act of ascending the stairs leading to the boiler deck when the explosion occurred, and an apparently trivial matter stopped him. While so delayed, the boiler, to use the words of a spectator, "went off." For some hours after the explosion, men were busily engaged in searching for the body of a man supposed to be killed. This supposition was based upon the fact of "brains" being scattered over a barge that was alongside, but when matters quieted down, the cook explained the "brain" question by stating that just before the explosion, the "butcher had sent his supplies, amongst which were several sets of "brains." This settled the matter as to the man killed, and the excitement naturally and gradually died out. It will take some days to repair the damage to the boat. Capt. Cartwright, who was to have taken the Illinois, will go on the Schuyler.—St. Louis Republican.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day or night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs of symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of Work Waste and repair are easily comprehended if the worn out material be carried off, and renewing material of a proper character, the result must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and disease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper obe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD
PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunk in away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM.
Turtle Creek.
PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine my self for a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
